DECIMALISING

We have been very pleased, I am sure, with the way in which the switch was carried out. Our Decimal Guides had so little to do that I don't believe they had more than one question each to answer. They have only themselves to blame for it was their efforts, under the guidance of our Company Secretary Mr. Bradford, that made the changeover problem so simple. That they did a good job is appreciated by all of us who succumbed to their wit and charm.

I must also express the thanks of your Directors to those who gave up part of their Sunday on the 14th February to do that irksome but necessary task of changing the tickets and balancing the money. The job was done quickly, efficiently and with much good humour - perhaps someone else enjoyed themselves, too.

D.C.Suter,
Managing Director.
